Author of Edmond history book to speak

EDMOND, Okla.—David Fisk, author of a new local history book, will be at Touchmark at Coffee Creek at 3 p.m. May 13 to discuss “Legendary Locals of Edmond.” The public is invited, and there is no charge.

The book profiles 129 intriguing characters and everyday citizens who have made Edmond’s history legendary. Fisk culled vintage images along with facts and anecdotes for the book.

Light snacks will be served, and the book will be available for $23.80, which includes state sales tax. Please RSVP at 450-340-1975. Touchmark is located at 2801 Shortgrass Road.

“Legendary Locals of Edmond” shares the stories of unique individuals and groups, past and present, who have had a lasting impact on the community throughout its history. Included in the book are town greats and unsung heroes, such as Milton “Kickingbird” Reynolds, founder of the The Edmond Sun; Sandra Gragg Naifeh, Edmond’s first female mayor and founder of Keep Edmond Beautiful and Fred Snyder, a former mayor and hardware store owner.

Edmond has blossomed into a small city rather than a town as far as population goes, but residents continue to be proud of its small-town character and values.

“I hope the book will provide a place for readers to learn more about the people behind the town,” said Fisk.

Touchmark, , is part of the Coffee Creek 638-acre planned residential development, which includes a golf course, recreational centers and walking and biking trails for Coffee Creek homeowners.
