Touchmark appoints executive chef

HELENA, Mont. – Award-winning executive chef Chris Bullard has joined Touchmark on Saddle. In this role, he is responsible for overseeing food service for residents of the retirement community. Drawing on his “from-scratch” philosophy, Bullard plans menus using ingredients that are flavorful and healthy. In addition to planning and preparing appetizing menus and meals, Bullard prides himself in establishing and maintaining good relationships with residents.

One of Bullard’s specialties is incorporating the Mediterranean diet because of its health benefits and versatility in pleasing all palates. “I have taken my knowledge of fine dining and made my own personal style of cooking for the residents,” he said.

Bullard received his degree in Culinary Arts from Colorado Mesa University and served as a chef at Deer Creek Golf Course in Colorado. Prior to taking over the kitchen at Touchmark, he worked as the executive chef at Hunters Pointe in Helena.
