Public invited to “Portlandia Extravaganza” Portland food, drinks and traditions

EDMOND, Okla. – Ever heard the expression, “Keep Portland Weird?” Perhaps you have seen the TV shows “Portlandia” or “Grimm.” The city’s coffee, beer and food attract people from around the globe, and the city has been ranked the top food city in America.

Touchmark at Coffee Creek invites the public to learn about the treats and traditions of Portland, Oregon. The event begins at 2 p.m. on Thursday, August 24 at Touchmark, 2801 Shortgrass Road in Edmond.

From its 12 bridges to the world’s smallest park, Oregon’s largest city has a fascinating history. Bret Cope, Touchmark Vice President of Business Development, hails from Portland and will be sharing why the city is also called “Stumptown” and the “City of Roses,” among other references. In addition to fun facts, he will share samples of food and drink. Door prizes will be offered, as well.

RSVP by August 22 to 405-340-1975.
