Resident Spotlight - Nancy Mitchell

Nearing the end of her time at SMU, she married and had a son, Michael, and nearly 7 years later a daughter, Jennifer. In between having her two children, she went on to get her Physician's Assistant's degree from University of Texas Southwestern Medical School, all while raising a deaf son, a young daughter and caring for a husband diagnosed with stage IV melanoma. Miraculously, with experimental treatment and her medical connections, her husband survived. Her areas of practice as a Physician's Assistant included OBGYN, Family Practice, Neurology and multiple juvenile and high security prisons. Her work took her to various places including Casper, WY; Clayton, NM; Amarillo, Lubbock, Lamesa and finally Huntsville, Texas, where she worked for the high security prison system. She retired in 2012 due to declining health. She has one grown grandson and two young granddaughters and they are the light of her life. She has always been very generous when it comes to them. When she retired, she moved to Little Elm to be close to and spend time with them. She loves to read, Watch World Cup Soccer, collegiate sports, especially football bowl games and basketball's March Madness. She also loves television series like Game of Thrones, Outlander, Grey's Anatomy and many more similar shows. She has endured a lot of medical challenges herself and has seen a lot in her tenured medical career, including a lock down during a prison riot in Lamesa, TX. And it's those experiences that have shaped her. She has always faced her life with great strength and the fortitude to handle anything life threw her way.
